DULLES AND STASSEN END PARIS TALKS

London (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he looks forward to "happy and useful talks" with British leaders here tomorrow.

Dulles, who with Mutual Security Director Harold Stassen, is on a seven-country fact-finding tour in Europe, arrived by plane from Paris.

He and Stassen plan to be in the British capital 42 hours and have talks with Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler.

Dulles stressed in a statement to newsmen that he comes "to establish personal contact" with British leaders.

The new U. S. secretary faces a host of British misgivings over President Eisenhower's decision to neutralize Nationalist China's island fortress of Formosa.

Dulles and Mutual Security Director Harold E. Stassen rushed through swift final conferences with U. S. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme Allied commander in Europe, and officials of the North Atlantic Treaty and European Economic Cooperation Organizations before taking off this afternoon for London, next stop on their "look-see" tour of West Europe's capitals.

In a speech to a formal NATO Council Session, Dulles said America looks upon NATO as a "great and growing force for the peace and security of the world."

Generalissimo Hails Eisenhower Decision

Taipei, Formosa (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek tonight hailed President Eisenhower's decision to lift the ban on Nationalist operations against the Red mainland as "not only judicious but militarily and morally sound."

In a formal statement, however, Chiang gave no hint of any impending action against the Communists.

He said his own plan of action will "necessarily form an important link in the general plan of the free world to combat worldwide communism."

He said the Nationalists will not ask ground forces of other nations to help "achieve our own goal—the liberation of China. China has never made such an appeal, nor has China ever cherished such illusions."

Braddock Cop To Face Another Trial

Pittsburgh (AP)—Fred Burdell, suspended North Braddock policeman convicted of stealing $115,000 from the home safe of a Butler coal operator, will go on trial here Feb. 16 in the $2,600 highway hijacking of the same man.

On trial with Burdell will be Jack Verill, Willie Mendicino and Sam Fratto, all of Butler. They are accused of robbing Craig Saul on a North Braddock road March 11, 1952—four days before the safe theft.

A Butler County Criminal Court jury found Burdell guilty of armed robbery and aggravated assault and battery in the looting of Saul's safe and the pistol-whipping of his wife. Burdell is seeking a new trial.

FIRE VICTIM

DuBois (AP)—Mrs. Mary McMahon, 79, died yesterday of burns suffered when her clothing caught fire after she brushed against a gas heater at her home.

Abolition of Milk Control Commission Is Advocated by Chesterman Committee

Harrisburg (AP)—The Chesterman Committee today recommended abolition of the State Milk Control Commission.

Its duties should be turned over to the Agriculture Department as a way to save $75,000 a biennium, said the committee.

The committee, headed by Francis J. Chesterman, Philadelphia, was created by Gov. John S. Fine last year to study possible economies in state government.

The committee suggestion differs from legislative proposals in recent years to abolish the commission outright with no controls at all. Coincidentally, such a bill was introduced in the Legislature yesterday by Rep. William A. Bolton (R-Montgomery).

The commission was created 20 years ago to fix milk prices to insure an adequate supply for consumers. It traditionally fixes min-

Public Invited to Listen in as Chapman Committee Opens Hearings on State's Budget

Harrisburg (AP)—The Senate appropriations Committee took its first look today at the state's $1,400,000,000 budget, questioning state officials about school subsidies.

Chairman Leroy W. Chapman (R-Warren) turned to the Department of Public Instruction's budget allocations first because they represented more than $500,000,000, half of the general fund budget.

The meeting was thrown open to the public, setting a precedent since committee meetings usually are held behind closed doors.

"The public has a right to know what's going on in this budget," Chapman told a newsmen. "That's why it's a public meeting."

Taking up first the appropriation for the State Public School Building Authority, the committee heard that "the school bond market is drying up."

Everett A. Quackenbush, director of school administration, said bonds of the school authority should have higher interest rates.

"If these bonds could have increased interest rates or be bought by insurance companies, perhaps, we would have a more ready market for them," Quackenbush told the committee.

Gov. John S. Fine, in allocating more than half of the general fund budget for education, has earmarked $3,000,000 to aid construction of new school buildings under a state financing plan.

In the House, the Republican leadership set a Feb. 24 goal for passage of legislation to set up machinery to revise Pennsylvania's 79-year-old State Constitution.

The House State Government Committee called a meeting to act on the measure.

The legislation would summon a constitutional convention into session here next January.

Meanwhile, Chairman Wrayburn B. Hall (R-Potter) of the House Ways and Means Committee disclosed nothing was done at a committee meeting yesterday about a $200,000,000 tax package introduced last week by Rep. Adam T. Bower (R-Northumberland).

Long and Bitter Dispute Is Closed by Formosa Decision But Another One Is Looming

Reed Pushing For Passage of Bill To Slash Income Taxes

Washington (AP)—Rep. Reed (R-NY) called anew today for quick passage of his bill to cut income taxes and insisted it doesn't conflict with apparent go-slow signals from President Eisenhower.

A leading Democrat, however, chided Republicans as being "in considerable disagreement." Rep. Cooper D-Tenn. added, "We Democrats have to wait and see if they get together and see what they come up with."

Reed, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he was "not at all disturbed" over Eisenhower's plea to Congress to put budget balancing ahead of tax reductions.

"There's no quarrel between us," Reed said. "I've insisted all along on balancing the budget. But we can pass my bill and balance the budget too."

Reed predicted the House Ways and Means Committee will approve his bill at a meeting called for Feb. 16. His proposal would advance by six months, to June 30, the presently scheduled lapse of an 11 per cent boost in individual income tax rates.

Eisenhower, in his State of the Union message to Congress yesterday, said it would not be wise to reduce federal revenues "until we can determine the extent to which expenditures can be reduced."

WESTMORELAND CO. MAY HAVE MUSEUM

Greensburg (AP)—A bequest of nearly $2,000,000 may pave the way for a Westmoreland County Museum of Art.

Mrs. Mary Todd Marchand Woods, who died last Wednesday, left all but $22,000 of her nearly two million dollar estate for the museum, a long-cherished dream of hers. The $22,000 is for private bequests.

Mrs. Woods was the widow of Cyrus E. Woods, ex-state senator and former U. S. ambassador to Portugal, Spain and Japan.

Washington (AP)—By his order releasing Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa to attack the Reds, President Eisenhower has closed one long and bitter dispute, but has almost certainly opened another.

For a major question which now confronts the Eisenhower administration is whether and to what extent the U. S. should support and assist Chiang Kai-shek in mounting sea and air raids—and more importantly in fulfilling his avowed determination to invade the Chinese mainland.

Secretary of State Dulles is reported to have told nervous French officials in Paris yesterday that Washington does not intend to support Chiang in any "reckless actions." All indications here are that Eisenhower intends (1) to let the Nationalists make whatever limited raids they can with present limited capabilities and (2) to protect their island meanwhile with the Seventh Fleet.

Diplomatic authorities believe Chiang will not be satisfied with this, and will begin pressing for large scale American help to mount a major invasion of Red China—the return to the continent to which he has long pledged himself.

ERIE DISTRICT COURT HAS NEW OFFICIAL

Pittsburgh (AP)—John A. Zurn, retire Erie industrialist, took over the post of jury commissioner in Erie today for the U. S. district court.

Judge Wallace S. Gourley made the appointment in a move designed to set up an 11-county area in Northwestern Pennsylvania as a judicial district functioning independently of Pittsburgh.

Last week, the court named Mrs. Owen M. Burns deputy clerk of the Erie office. She is the widow of U. S. District Judge Owen M. Burns.

MILLION REFUND

Philadelphia (AP)—A Chambersburg industrial firm has refunded the federal government $1,150,000 on a defense contract. Announcement of the refund was made yesterday by Col. W. M. Tisdale, deputy district chief of the Philadelphia Ordnance District "to refute with the facts the continued loose unfounded charges of waste within the nation's military production programs."

Washington (AP)—President Eisenhower's nominees are getting Senate approval with less opposition than that attending the appointment of Charles E. Wilson, former president of General Motors, to be secretary of defense.

Confirmed yesterday were the nominations of Robert T. Stevens as secretary of the Army, Robert B. Anderson as secretary of the Navy, and Winthrop W. Aldrich as ambassador to Great Britain.

Approval of Harold E. Talbott as secretary of the Air Force was delayed by Sen. Keafauer (D-Tenn.), who questioned the nominee yesterday on activities of a World War I aircraft company which he headed Talbott's confirmation is expected tomorrow.

QUICK ACTION TO REPUDIATE YALTA PACT

Washington (AP)—Speedy approval of President Eisenhower's plan to repudiate any secret agreements with the Kremlin was forecast today in Congress, which applauded his decision to free Chinese Nationalists on Formosa for raids on Red China.

Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, said he sees no reason why Congress can't act quickly to pass a resolution proposed by Eisenhower in his State of the Union message yesterday.

The President said the resolution should make it clear that "this government recognizes no kind of commitment contained in secret understandings of the past with foreign governments" which permit "enslavement" of any peoples.

Taft said he is wholeheartedly for the Eisenhower plan.

Eisenhower didn't say what agreements he had in mind, but the general assumption in Congress was that he may have been speaking of Yalta, where the U. S. and Britain made concessions to Russia to persuade her to enter the Pacific war. The Truman State Department said the Yalta Pact has been fully public since 1947, two years after its signing.

Rep. Kersten (R-Wis) promptly issued a resolution he said was designed to nullify the Yalta Agreement. Kersten said in a statement the Yalta Agreement "gave Stalin a seemingly legal stranglehold on his conquests" and violated the rights of Poland and China.

By setting it aside, Kersten claimed, the United States could "seize the initiative from the Communists and win the cold war."

Some Democrats said they didn't see how the action the President proposed would alter the facts of Soviet conquests based on military power.

Eisenhower's proposal was regarded in Congress as a first move toward carrying out his presidential campaign promise that the U. S. will move in ways short of war to bring about the liberation of captive peoples in Russia's satellites.

Lieut. Gen. Maxwell Arrives in Seoul To Replace Van Fleet

Seoul (AP)—Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor arrived today and began a round of briefings prior to launching a personal survey of his new command—the U. S. Eighth Army.

The famed paratrooper "jumping general" of World War II flew in from Tokyo shortly after outnumbered South Koreans drove off 60 attacking North Koreans on the frozen Eastern Front. The battle-line elsewhere was quiet.

Taylor will take over as United Nations field commander from retiring Gen. James A. Van Fleet. He said the change in command would come within a few days.

At a news conference, Taylor described himself as "just a green replacement" but said he has a few days to go through a "course of sprouts." He said that would make for an efficient transfer of command.

A newsmen asked Taylor whether he brought any new instructions on conduct of the war from President Eisenhower, with whom he conferred before leaving Washington.

"Obviously," Taylor replied, "I couldn't comment on that. It's no secret that we did talk about Korea."

PENITENTIARY LIFER PLUNGES TO HIS DEATH

Pittsburgh (AP)—John L. Kirstner, 47, serving a life sentence for killing his wife, plunged 20 feet to his death yesterday from a small second-floor window at Western State Penitentiary.

The coroner's office listed the death as suicide. Prison officials said Kirstner tried twice before to take his life. Formerly of Altoona, Kirstner was sentenced in 1949 after he pleaded guilty to shooting his wife in an Altoona cafe where she worked.

8 HOMELESS IN FIRE
Pottsville (AP)—Eight persons are homeless today as the aftermath of a fire which swept through three frame houses in nearby Llewellyn yesterday. The blaze started in a building housing the home and grocery store of Clifford Story and quickly spread to adjoining houses. No estimate of the damage was available.

COURT UPHOLDS JUDGE

Washington (AP)—The Supreme Court by 6-2 vote has upheld the authority of a judge in some circumstances to put a defendant on trial twice if in doing so "the ends of justice will be most served."

Committee Starts Investigation Of Prisons in State

Pittsburgh (AP)—An investigation of Pennsylvania's prisons opened today as a five-man committee named by Gov. John S. Fine asked Warden John W. Claudy of Western State Penitentiary for his views on penal conditions.

The committee, headed by Jacob L. Devers, retired Army general of Herndon, Va., arrived in Pittsburgh last night after a conference with the governor.

Both Western State Penitentiary and its Rockview Prison farm branch near Bellefonte were scenes of destructive riots by inmates last month.

The committee, instructed by Gov. Fine to "let the chips fall where they may," will spend two days in Pittsburgh interviewing officials, guards and inmates.

Then the committee will recess for members' personal business.

Gen. Devers said he could not fix a date for the committee's visit to Rockview and other state prisons.

Other members of the committee are James E. Ragen, warden of the Joliet, Ill., prison; John C. Burke, Wisconsin State prison warden; Judge Burton R. Laub, Erie, and William P. Witherow, Pittsburgh industrialist.

Devers said his committee may confer with Allegheny County Dist. Atty. James F. Malone, but added: "We are not in on the criminal side."

Malone is planning his own investigation at the penitentiary.

Well Known Vet Of Spanish-American War Dies Suddenly

John Joseph Daley, well known resident of Cobham Park road, died suddenly of a heart attack at 11:15 p. m. Monday while visiting at 1207 Pennsylvania east. He had carried on his usual activities through the day and his sudden passing came as a shock to family and friends.

Mr. Daley was born in Jamestown on February 27, 1878, and had resided in this area since he came here as a small boy. A former employee of the United Refining Company, he was retired in 1937.

He was a member of Holy Redeemer parish and was one of the few remaining Spanish-American War veterans, having served with Company I, 116th Regiment.

Surviving him are the following children: John L. Daley, Mrs. Kathleen Schmalder, Cobham Park road; Mrs. Veronica Slater, Beckley, W. Va.; Neal Daley, North Warren, and Mrs. Ella Mangini, Titusville; also 26 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren; three sisters, Mrs. Anne Weigle, Mrs. Julia Mulvey, and Mrs. Look Weld.

At its February meeting, Monday night, Borough Council will probably adopt the 1953 budget which won preliminary approval at the January meeting.

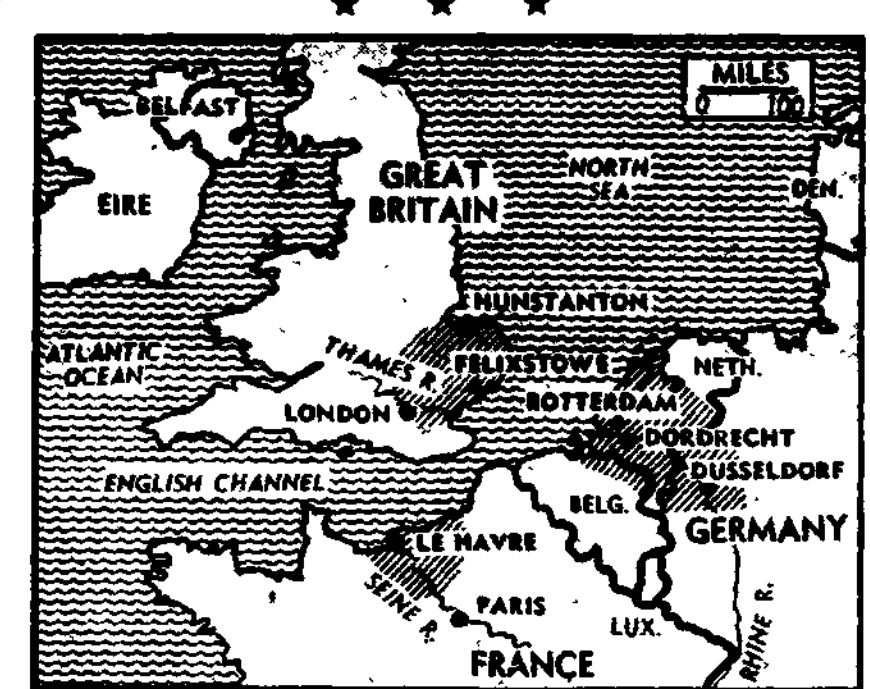

Among other items on the agenda are consideration of the Planning Commission's report on the re-zoning of upper Market street, and the opening of bids for the purchase of a new police car.

UNIONTOWN FIRE

Uniontown (AP)—A fire destroyed the Atlas Coal Co. building near here last night, causing an estimated $25,000 damage. Origin of the blaze was not determined. Included in the loss were four coal trucks. The company is owned by the William T. Guseman family.

FLOOD HITS FIVE NATIONS—Shaded areas on Newsmap show approximate locations along the British, Netherlands, Belgian and French coasts which were hardest hit by floodwaters. Parts of Germany were also inundated by the powerful wind-driven waters. The death toll is around the 1000 mark, including a number of Americans. Holland was hardest hit with approximately one seventh of its total area flooded.

Directors Adopt an Enabling Resolution for Authority To Erect an Addition at Beatty

Warren Borough School Directors, at their February meeting Monday night, passed an enabling resolution to form a Municipal Authority for construction of the proposed addition to Beatty Junior High school, and a similar resolution must now be passed by the other individual boards which comprise the Warren Area Joint Schools.

Supt. Carl E. Whipple said today that the State law does not permit a joint board to authorize an authority, but does permit the individual boards to do so, which necessitates that each of the nine boards must pass the resolution.

A combined report from the various school buildings showed a total of 3,239 pupils as compared with 3,128 last year, and 3,070 the year before. There has been a gradual uptrend since 1948, Supt. Whipple said today.

The pupil-teacher ratio in Beatty and WHS is less than last year, he said. Music teachers have the heaviest pupil load, except for Mrs. Betty Hinkley of Beatty, an art teacher, who has 412. Howard Anderson has 356 in his classes and Carroll Fowler, 229. Most of the special subject teachers, whose classes meet once each week, have the heaviest pupil load.

A report from the Pennsylvania State Council of Education revealed that further consideration is being given to the problem of annexation of Hill street to Warren insofar as the school district is concerned.

The school physician reported that he has started the biennial examination of teachers and employees, that he has completed examination of seventh and ninth grade pupils at Beatty, and will complete examination of WHS students this week. The dental reports were in order.

Gerald Newton, director of education and curriculum, reported on sixth grade reading tests, revealing that reading comprehension is 10 per cent above the national average, with vocabulary even better. He supplied each director with a copy of the co-curricular activities schedule.

Approval was given by the Board to the following:

Eden Disturbed Over Eisenhower Statement

London (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today expressed Britain's concern at President Eisenhower's decision to denationalize the Chinese Nationalist forces on Formosa, freeing them for possible attacks on the Chinese mainland.

Eden recalled before a tense, crowded House of Commons the United States administration under President Truman in 1950 on its own initiative had posted the American Seventh Fleet in Korean waters to neutralize the island of Formosa.

President Eisenhower's step announced yesterday before Congress "in consequence is a unilateral decision by the new U. S. administration to amend their predecessors," Eden said.

50,000 MUST BE RESETTLED IN NEW HOMES

Amsterdam, The Netherlands (AP)—Known dead in the storm and flood disaster in three countries passed the 1,500 mark today. In Holland alone 50,000 persons faced resettlement in new homes.

The damage from salt water to nearly a million acres of flooded land was reckoned in uncalculated millions of dollars.

The sea waters were slowly receding in Britain, but distress calls still came in from isolated villages in Holland. In this country there was fear that new high tides might force the waters even farther inland than the 40-mile limit so far reported.

The final death toll may surpass 2,000. This was the latest count from official and reliable unofficial sources:

Holland, 991.
England, 514.
Belgium, 22.
Total, 1,527.

Premier Willem Drees told the Dutch Parliament 50,000 persons will have to be evacuated from stricken areas, most of them under sea level and protected by dikes that broke in 60 to 80 places in the weekend flood. These refugees must be resettled in new homes, Drees called it a national catastrophe. It was the worst flood here in five centuries.

Drop in Wholesale Prices Announced

Washington (AP)—Wholesale prices dipped 0.2 per cent in the week ended Jan. 27, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

The decline brought the wholesale price index to 109.4 per cent of the 1947-48 average.

Farm product prices, which slipped 0.5 per cent chiefly because of lower egg and livestock prices, were the major cause of the decline. Live poultry and cotton went up, however. Processed foods decreased 0.3 per cent as a result of price drops on meats, fats and oils.

The index for all commodities other than farm products and processed foods declined 0.1 per cent. Lower prices were recorded for zinc, rubber and inedible fats and oils.

'pseudo Britisher' Convulses Big Crowd at North Warren Civic Club's Annual Banquet

Members of the North Warren Civic Club went home from their annual banquet, Monday night, to all open medicine cabinet doors to search for any remnants of loan's liniment and Absorbine Jr. which might be therein, to massage aching ribs. That they had seen mentally and orally defrauded by their banquet speaker they realized only too well, but they ad enjoyed every minute of it. It might be said that any balm applied during a painful night may have removed some of the physical pain, but today's talk-it-all-over sessions brought only a recurrence of many a business place and home.

With all the eloquence at his command, Dr. C. H. Garwood, 80, former superintendent of schools in Pittsburgh, introduced "Dr. H. Winston, prominent English educator and diplomat whom I met during a visit to Oxford University, well-read British economist and a relative of the great Winston Churchill." The speaker immediately led his receptive audience on a merry chase through the British Isles, across the Atlantic and into the political realms of Washington. When he suddenly declared that it was "time to become serious," his audience sat back to listen to the gist of the speech and, to use the vernacular, was right then that they "got it." Economic charts were evaluated and explained by the speaker, with the audience listening intently, until Register and recorder Don Schuler, busily using a pencil on the snow-white tablecloth, realized that the distinguished economist had, by his various percentage allotments, made the American dollar total a mere 1.83! Braving the risk of being called a heckler, Mr. Schuler rose from his seat and brought this to the attention of the Britisher, whose explanation was "Bah, love, y good fellow, that is a coincidence. Are you sure you're not a bit confused?"

The speaker, saying England is Mother Country because she is always expecting," said he was born an Englishman, have lived in an Englishman and will die an Englishman. Just no ambition, I guess!"

Promising that he was "going to end this oratory in a blaze of glory, smouldered somewhat," he discarded his role as a Britisher and became a ward politician, urging "youse guys" to "meet yer responsibilities and vote as many times as yuh can."

His humorous talk at an end, Dr. Winston was introduced, as Russell Pratt, radio commentator, writer and former member of the Don McNeill Breakfast Show cast, there had been practically no laws in his British impersonation.

The speaker and Dr. Garwood, he latter now director of public relations and educational adviser at Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, the oldest business school in the world, received a fine ovation from the audience, which numbered almost 150, and were

System to Speed Up Ticket Sales Is Planned by Pennsy

Pittsburgh—A new system to speed up ticket sales and the making of Pullman and coach reservations will be inaugurated by the Pennsylvania Railroad here about March 15, according to J. A. Appleton, regional vice president.

"The plan has one main purpose," Mr. Appleton said, "and that is to make it easier and more pleasant for our customers to do business with the railroad. We are confident that the average time required to make a reservation and to purchase a ticket on a train out of Pittsburgh will be drastically cut."

Extension of the plan to other cities served by the Pennsylvania will depend on results of the trial installation here, he added.

The new system provides for a central ticket sales and service bureau manned by counter and telephone sales representatives. Pre-printed Pullman and reserved coach space coupons—one for each unit of reserved space on trains leaving Pittsburgh—will be arranged under the hands of reservation clerks in special racks by train and by date, with different types of accommodations denoted by coupons of various colors. A board in full view of the public and of all sales personnel will show accommodations available on each train for the next week.

If, for example, a traveler wishes to obtain a bedroom on The Pittsburgher for New York any time during the week, a glance at the board for The Pittsburgher will show whether such an accommodation is available. If it is not the board will show immediately what other accommodations might be obtained. Whatever accommodation

Standardized Child Adoption Program In State Proposed

Harrisburg (AP)—Legislation to set up a standardized child adoption procedure in Pennsylvania is under study by a Senate committee.

"Our aim is to place adoptable children in the hands of qualified parents in as short a period as possible and to have the adoption stick," said Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny), one of the sponsors of a package of adoption bills.

The measures would establish a Protective Adoption Placement Service with the State Welfare Department. Co-sponsors with Fleming are Sens. Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) and John H. Dent (R-Westmoreland).

Fleming said the bills are the result of a Joint State Government Commission study two years ago. The commission is the legislature's research arm.

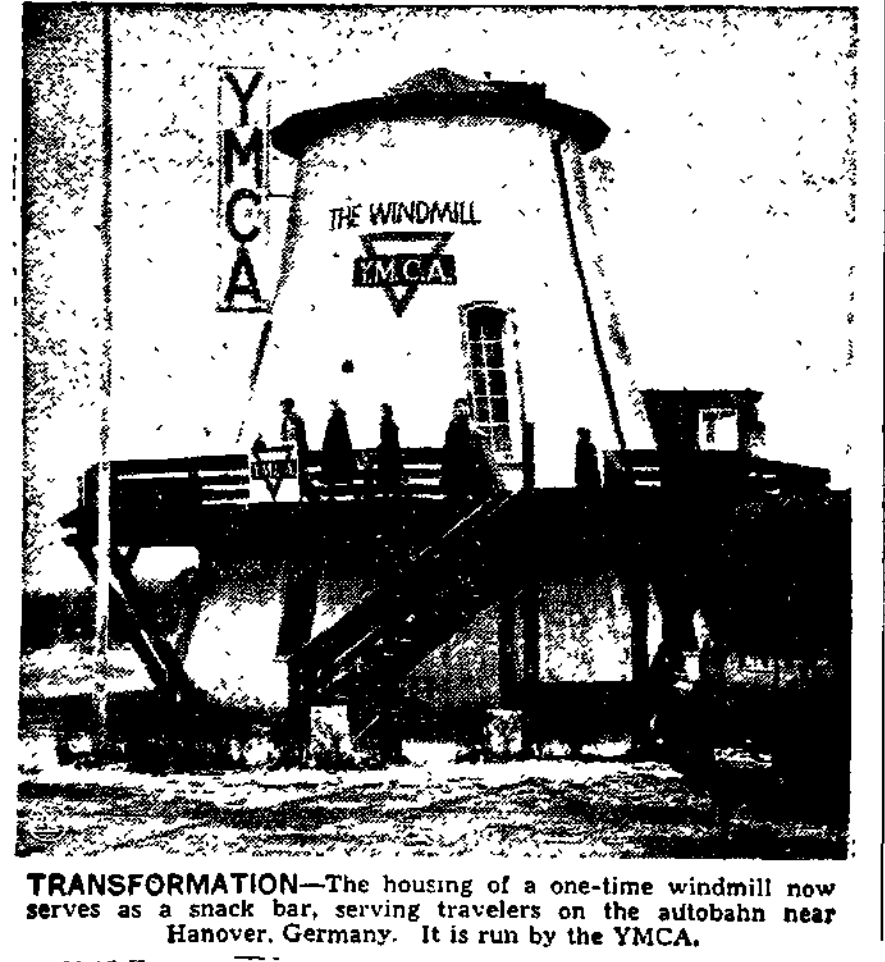

Under the legislation private agencies placing children for adoption would have to be licensed and supervised by the placement service.

The proposal was one of 32 introduced in the Senate Monday—the first meeting since the 1952 General Assembly organized on Jan. 6. Introduction of bills in the House was put off until appointment of standing committees to-day.

CLERK RESIGNS
Venango County commissioners yesterday accepted the resignation of Miss E. Zella Smiley, commissioners' clerk for more than 31 years. W. Roy Wolfe, clerk in the office for several years, is understood to be first in line for promotion to the post of chief clerk. Miss Smiley, a native of Franklin and a graduate of Franklin High School in 1901, was appointed chief clerk on Sept. 21, 1921.

CHIMNEY FIRE
All fire equipment answered a call to the home of Mrs. Bada Johnson, 413 Conewango avenue, shortly before nine o'clock this morning when an overheated chimney threatened to set fire to the home. Firemen said that the occupant had been burning slabwood, and during the current cold snap, the forcing of the fire had ignited pitch which had gathered in the chimney. There was no damage, but firemen stood by for almost an hour until the building cooled enough to be out of danger.

EMERGENCIES TREATED
Clyde Farnsworth, 20, of Clarendon, was given emergency treatment at Warren General Hospital yesterday afternoon following a fall from a horse which he was riding near his home. He sustained a laceration of the right ear and a small scalp laceration, and was discharged after treatment. Virgie Griffith, employed at Paramount Furniture Company, sustained a puncture wound of the left fourth finger when the tip of the finger was penetrated by a sliver while sanding wood. He was also treated and discharged.

RETAIL PRICES
According to the Department of Labor and Industry, retail prices in Pennsylvania showed a drop of 0.2 percent in the final quarter of 1952. The bulletin states that lower prices for foodstuffs accounted for the principal part of the decrease, followed by a drop in clothing prices. Rents, fuel, electricity and refrigeration, and house furnishings also rose, serving to partially offset the drops in other commodities. The index was 0.7 percent higher than a year ago and 12.2 percent higher than in June, 1950.

IN POOR CONDITION
Titusville Herald: Billy George, 14, whose left foot was nearly torn off in an accident at his home Sunday night at the Oil City Hospital. The lad, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. George of Cooperstown, Route 1 (between Cherrytree and Dempseytown), was in a state of severe shock. He was unable to tell his parents exactly what happened. His ankle joint was shattered in the compound fracture of his leg, and his ankle was badly lacerated. His left foot was nearly separated from his leg. Billy's father found him unconscious on the ground where a pool of blood had formed. It is thought the cold day saved the lad's life, for the low temperature helped to seal off the torn flesh and keep him from bleeding to death. The boy had been keeping a fire going while his father and another man were running a sawmill. He apparently climbed on a tractor standing near the loading dock and in an attempt to jump to the dock he slipped and fell. His foot must have been caught somewhere to cause the compound break.

Bess Truman Busy Getting Her House in Order, Says Self-Styled Chief Unpacker Harry Truman

By MARY KAY FLYNN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Independence, Mo.—(NEA)—Like any housewife settling down at home after a long absence, Bess Truman is busy getting her 14-room Victorian house in order.

That comes from the "chief unpacker"—her husband. "Mrs. Truman appointed me to the job," smiled Harry S. Truman.

Mrs. Truman is sticking very close to her task of straightening up the Truman residence and isn't available to tell the story herself. So I obtained the story from the former President himself, when he took time out from unpacking at home to superintend the unpacking of files at his office suite in Kansas City. He received me in friendly, informal fashion and I guess this is his first private interview as a citizen since leaving Washington. How does Bess Truman feel about being "back home for good?"

Mr. Truman said: "She is very happy in her own home."

The heartfelt way he said it implied that the burdensome years in the White House had not ended any to soon to suit the former First Lady.

Many of the rooms in the Truman house are still cluttered with wrappings and unopened shipping crates. "Do you have to hop around packing boxes still?" he was asked. He replied: "That's just about it."

Passers-by get a glimpse of the magnitude of the job. The back yard is stacked with crates and neighbors saw a grand piano being unloaded from a van.

Except for an occasional brief trip in the neighborhood and a bridge session with her Tuesday Bridge Club, Mrs. Truman has done little but work on resettling during her first days at home.

Cooking, marketing and other housekeeping duties are left to two maids currently employed. There's a handyman to do odd jobs. This is in marked contrast to the White House, where Mrs. Truman had a staff of 85 cooks, butlers, ushers, valets, housemaids, gardeners and other help.

While the former President was chatting with me, he received a telephone call, quite evidently an invitation.

"You'll have to give us a rain check," he said pleasantly. "I'm helping the missus unpack so no invites for a while."

I asked Mr. Truman if Mrs. Truman had served any favorite "at home" dishes since their return.

"No, I eat what's put before me," he said.

HAPPY DAYS are here for Bess Truman, who is glad to be back home.

Mrs. Truman is hoping to get at a huge stack of personal correspondence as soon as household chores will permit. Being without a personal secretary, she hopes her correspondents will understand.

Friends here in Independence have been understanding of the readjustment and unpacking period. They haven't tried to burden the Trumans by calling on them. However, many have sent in flowers.

The other day a high school senior employed part time in a local pastry shop brought a cake to the door.

All who have seen Bess Truman agree that she seems radiant with contentment. "She never looked prettier or happier," is the expression repeatedly heard.

As for the "chief unpacker," he looks pretty happy, too.

Chapman Explains Television Prospects for Warren; Tells Rotary of Future Coverage

Excellent direct television reception in Warren within the next three years was predicted by Arthur Chapman, vice president of Sylvania, when he spoke before the Warren Rotary club at its Monday luncheon meeting in the YWCA. Mr. Chapman predicted that coverage from the Buffalo station will be extended, that the Johnstown station will ultimately cover this area, that reception from the new Jamestown station will be good, and that the Erie station also will extend its coverage into Warren county, aided by placement of towers on a hill near Union City.

He said, too, that proposed stations in Bradford, Olean, Oil City, Meadville, DuBois and Dunkirk, channels for which have been provided by the FCC, will give Warren good television choice.

Mr. Chapman said that of 150 community piped-in television units in the nation, 53 are in Pennsylvania because of its hilly terrain, and are giving good service.

Mr. Chapman said that television manufacture has supplemented the automobile industry as the fastest growing business in the country. Up until last July there were 108 TV channels, then with the lifting of restrictions allocations have been made for 2,060 stations, with 1500 VHF and 500 UHF.

The speaker mentioned a booster station as a valuable aid to television reception here, saying that Nashville has had great success with one which cost $5,000.

Among the interested guests present were Ray Hartung, general manager of Sylvania, William E. Lutz, Jr., of Sylvania, and Stewart Beckley, son of C. Beckley, a charter member of the local Rotary club.

Q. I've just been released from the Army and I need treatment right away for a bad leg injury I suffered in Korea. What must I do to get this treatment from VA without delay?

A. Go to any VA hospital or regional office with your discharge papers and with any other evidence you may have showing that you suffered your disability in Service. As a Korean veteran, you may be entitled to emergency outpatient treatment.

Q. I am a blinded veteran, and I understand I am entitled to a seeing-eye dog at Government expense. But I can't afford the expenses of going to the place where I'm supposed to learn how to adjust to the use of the dog. Is it possible for VA to pay these expenses?

A. Yes. VA may pay necessary travel expenses to and from the point where readjustment is available, as well as your meals and lodging during the period of readjustment.

Q. I am considered totally disabled for insurance purposes, and yet I only receive a 20 per cent disability compensation. Can my compensation be increased?

A. Only if the service-connected disability is shown to have become more severe. For insurance purposes, there may have been other non-service-connected disabilities which, when combined with your service-connected ailment, produced total disability. Also, the criteria for determining total disability are different in insurance from those for compensation matters.

Prospect Street Nursing Home Has Ownership Change

Announcement has been made of a change in the ownership and management of the nursing home at 332 Prospect street, opened some years ago as the Barley Nursing Home, later acquired by C. W. and Alice Gipson, and operated under the name of Gipson Nursing Home.

The new owners are Mrs. Rhia Brennan, R. N., and Miss Marian Root, R. N., both of whom were formerly employed at the Warren State Hospital with H. M. Barley, of Venturatown as a third partner acting in the capacity of business manager.

The home, one of the best known in the area, is licensed by the Department of Welfare, and will be conducted in the future under the name of the Brennan-Root Nursing Home. For the last year and a half it has been operated by Mr. and Mrs. Gipson.

Mrs. Brennan trained at the Warren State Hospital, graduating with the class of 1935. Since that time she has been employed at various times as head nurse, supervisor and assistant director of nursing at the institution. Miss Root is a graduate of the Spencer Hospital School of Nursing in Meadville. More recently she has been employed at the Warren State Hospital and the Barley Nursing Home at Venturatown.

The Home has a capacity for 19 beds, with 17 patients presently being cared for there.

Six More Weeks of Winter Despite the Groundhogs Verdict

Harrisburg—If you want to make sure you'll be around to see the first robin of spring, don't let Old Man Winter catch you off guard on a stretch of hard-packed snow or a patch of ice, motorists were warned today by T. Elmer Transeau, Director of Highway Safety.

"Don't take too much comfort from the hopes that may be raised by Mr. Groundhog's shadow on February second, either, for no matter what that fellow may predict, it's a pretty sure thing the winter season will last another five or six weeks," Transeau declared.

The two greatest threats to our safety on the streets and highways at this time of year are reduced traction and poor visibility.

To improve traction on snow or ice, vehicle speeds should be reduced, brakes should be applied with a light pumping action; and when snow and ice generally prevail, the tires should be equipped with chains, Transeau stated.

To improve visibility, windshield wipers should be working well to keep the outside of the shields clear, and defrosters should be functioning properly to prevent frost accumulation inside, he added. Rear windows should be cleared of any encrusted snow or ice, and headlights and taillights should be working well for nighttime safety.

Memorable Flood and Ice Jam Which Isolated East Side 70 Years Ago Recalled By Reader

Mr. W. A. Walker
Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

You and the readers of the Times-Mirror might be interested to know that February 4, 1953, will be the seventieth anniversary of the memorable flood and ice jam that took out the three bridges crossing the Conewango Creek: the wooden toll bridge at Fifth, erected by David Beatty, Sr.; the swinging bridge (for foot passengers only) at Third — this bridge was suspended on two wire cables; and the "Old Covered Bridge" on Pennsylvania Avenue — this bridge was 100 feet long and built with mammoth timbers, had a shingle roof and clapboard sides, looked very much like the bridge that used to be at Russell, but much larger than that one.

In those days we always had an ice gorge when ice went out. The ice was very thick—anywhere from 12 inches to 24 inches; in order to pass under the bridges the ice had to be quite rotten. However, this time the water was so high and the ice so solid that something had to give way. I was standing at the east end of the covered bridge about midnight when the bridge went out. The west abutment was undermined and that end of the bridge dropped into the water, then swung off. Such a screeching and groaning noise as the timbers made when settling into the jam one cannot describe.

A few weeks after the bridges went out Mr. Christian Smith, who had a boot and shoe store in Warren, received a letter, which was published in the old Warren Mail, from a man in Cincinnati. This man was on the Ohio River when some of the timber and debris came by—one sign on a timber read "C. Smith, Boots and Shoes, Warren, Pa." No doubt some of the old bridge got even into the Gulf of Mexico.

With all the bridges out there was a problem for those living on the East Side as there were no stores and many men worked in Warren. (I say Warren because the East Side did not belong to the Borough at that time, but to Glade Township. It was not until some years later that this part of town was annexed to Warren borough. Even tuition was required by the residents of the East Side if their children were to attend Warren Borough Schools.) What the ice permitted we crossed in skiffs. Lafayette Cook made a little ferry boat of planks and used a large rope instead of a wire cable. The boat held about 12 passengers. Mr. Cook built some steps down the steep bank just below the bridge site to the ferry, then the passengers were landed where the Bartsch Furniture Store now stands; the fare was 5c and Mr. Cook did a large business. If a wagonload of anything was needed, the Eastsiders had to go up to Glade Run, cross the toll bridge, go down that side of the river, then cross the suspension toll bridge into Warren, then back the same way. After a number of weeks some one started ferry service for teams to cross the Conewango Creek from the Beatty Falls—now Beatty School property —to Second Avenue extension, just north of St. Paul's Lutheran church. Warren Borough built an iron bridge to cross the creek at Pennsylvania Avenue before this fall of that year.

Yours very truly,
Edward E. Hertz

Couse and Murphy Wedding January 14th Is Announced

The New Dorp Baptist church at Staten Island, N. Y., was the scene of a pretty wedding January 14, when Ida Ruth Murphy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. John Schmidt, 12 Maple Terrace, Staten Island, became the bride of Robert E. Couse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Couse, 13 1/2 Oak street, Warren.

White glads decorated the altar or the double ring ceremony performed at 3:00 p. m. by the Rev. William Morrison. Wedding music was by the Rev. Samuel P. Reinka, who sang "O Perfect Love", "I Love You Truly", "Because" and "Calm As the Night".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a Queen Anne model of silk satin, styled with illusion yoke in a fitted bodice, and complemented with a pearl necklace which was the bridegroom's gift. A seed pearl tiara held her shoulder length veil and her cascade bouquet was fashioned of white roses and mums.

Maureen Callahan, as her only attendant, wore light blue broad-satin, with sequin-trimmed paphum. The same trim was repeated on her Juliet cap and her bouquet was of pink roses.

Ernest Bull, Ashville, N. Y., was best man and ushers were George Fox, Robert Schulz, both of New Dorp.

The bride's mother wore Dior blue silk in a street model, white flowered hat and pink camellias, while Mrs. Couse chose a black ensemble, with lace bodice and jacket and had a corsage of orchids.

Glads and a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride figures, featured the bride's table for the reception held in Marconio's Restaurant at 5:00 p. m. A guest list of 44 included Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smith, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. C. Vandergrift, aunts and uncle of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Smith, 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard LaPlaca, Barbara Zenger, cousins of the bride, all of Bristol, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bull, Ashville, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. D. Schatzle, Brooklyn, N. Y., cousins of the bridegroom; Mrs. Flora Nelson, his aunt, and his parents, of Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Westland, Jersey City, formerly of Warren.

After a motor trip through New Jersey, the newlyweds will live at 308 1/2 North Pine street, Warren. For travel, the bride chose an aqua and black dress, black accessories, and a white rose corsage.

Graduate of New Dorp High School, the bride has been a secretarial employee of the New York Trust Company. Among pre-nuptial showers, Mrs. Willard Couse entertained 15 guests at her home here, and Mrs. David Fox was hostess to 36 guests.

Mr. Couse, veteran of two years' Army service, is employed as short order cook at the Texas Lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Stone

At 3:00 p. m. Saturday in First Presbyterian church, Dr. Robert S. Steen read the double ring service which united in marriage Geraldine Mae Lias, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lias, 105 Sixth avenue, and Richard Glenn Stone, son of Glenn E. Stone, 209 Market street, and the late Ross W. Stone.

A large basket of white snapdragons, mums and carnations provided the floral setting and wedding music was by Organist Carroll A. Fowler and David Clark, the latter singing "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white wool crepe suit dress, styled with straight skirt and a jacket trimmed with seed pearls and having satin-bound collar and cuffs. Her teardrop pearl ear rings were the bridegroom's gift and accessories were of satin. Brown orchids centered her bouquet of white roses, with ribbon streamers of brown and white.

As her sister's maid of honor, Patty J. Lias wore a brown faille dress which featured a surplice front and three-quarter kimono sleeves, with a full skirt gathered at the waistline. Accessories were of a matching shade and mums were used for her colonial bouquet. The bridesmaid, Sally Lundahl of North Warren, was similarly attired in aqua, with matching accessories and bouquet of mums.

Jim Albaugh, Warren, was best man; ushers were Herb Porter, Rutherford, N. J.; Jim Kearn, Mt. Lebanon, and Dick Baker, Clarendon.

Mrs. Lias chose navy crepe for her daughter's wedding, accenting her frock with navy and pink accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Miss Alice Wilson and Mrs. Flora Gilmore, great-aunts of the bridegroom, wore teal blue with black and navy crepe and lace, respectively, each with a corsage of white carnations.

The reception for 150 guests followed immediately in the YWCA, where appointments featured a four-tier wedding cake, and a floral arrangement of white snapdragons, mums and carnations. Mrs. Charles Leuthold served the cake; Lois Hulings of Warren and Carol Carlson of Jamestown poured; aides were Mrs. Richard Corcoran and Sylvia Woodruff. Kay Anthony of North Warren had charge of the guest book. Thirty-nine members of the bridegroom's fraternity, present from Westminster College at New Wilmington, sang "The Sweetheart of Sigma Phi Epsilon".

Out of town guests were from Brockway, New Wilmington, Pittsburgh, Torpedo, Sheffield, Youngville, Clarendon, DuBois, Sewickley, Mt. Lebanon, State College; Randolph, Steamburg, Falconer, Gowanda, Jamestown, N. Y.; Rutherford and Jersey City, N. J.

Following a wedding trip to Buffalo and Canadian points, the couple will be at home February 9 at 415 Moody avenue, New Castle. Wearing her bridal suit for travel, the bride added brown accessories and the brown orchids from her bouquet.

Graduate of Warren High in 1949 and the WCA Hospital School of Nursing in Jamestown in '52, the bride has since been employed at the WCA and Warren General Hospitals.

Mr. Stone, also a member of the Warren Class of '49, is a senior at

★ RUTH MILLETT ★ Couples Need the Courage To Stop Marital Breakups

A TEXAS husband developed a new system to keep his wife from "going home to Mama."

When she threatened to leave him, he locked her outside in her nightgown and was busy piling all of her clothes in the bathtub when police arrived.

Said the husband to the officer: "I knew she couldn't leave if she had only a nightgown and her clothing was all wet."

It's downright refreshing to hear of a modern husband with enough gumption to take a positive stand when his wife threatens to "go home to Mama."

There are too many divorces these days which result from a "go ahead and see if I care" attitude on the part of husbands and wives.

PRIDE STANDS IN THE WAY OF ACTION

A WIFE threatens to go home to Mama and the average husband doesn't bother to put any obstacles in her way. He is too proud to do anything but tell her, "go ahead." And she in turn is too proud to back down on her threat.

Or a husband slams out of the house in a fit of temper and his wife tells him not to bother to come back.

It isn't often that a husband or wife has enough spirit to stand up and say: "You're my husband," or "You're my wife and you're not running out on this marriage right now or ever!" and back the words up with whatever action seems necessary and expedient.

The wife, whose husband refused to let her leave home, may have been angry enough to call police but it's a safe bet she'll never know the heartache of the wife whose husband answers her threat to go home to Mama with "Go ahead."

50,000 Must Be Re-settled in New Homes

(From Page One)

More than 500,000 acres including rich potato fields were inundated in Holland, 250,000 in England and a relatively small area in Belgium. Holland forbade the export of potatoes and imposed ceiling prices.

The U. S. Air Force said 11 Americans are known dead in England and seven others are missing and presumed dead. Among the dead—mostly Air Force men and their wives and children stationed on England's east coast—was the entire family of M. Sgt. Herbert Branch of Oakdale, La.—he, his wife and their two children.

The desperate work of piling sandbags against the threat of new spring tides went on endlessly as rescuers continued to haul survivors from rooftops, attics, dikes and surrounded high spots where they had shivered days and nights in the snow, hail and icy winds.

Offers of aid and expressions of deepest sympathy poured in from the Americans and from neighboring Western European countries.

Queen Elizabeth II and the Queen Mother visited rescue centers. Holland's Queen Juliana also toured stricken areas.

The first burials began in Holland.

From dozens of stricken towns and villages in Holland and England the refugees flowed into hastily set up camps and centers. Many of them were ill, most of them hungry, all of them homeless.

With communications still widely disrupted, Dutch officials as yet could make no accurate estimate of the missing or homeless.

Reds Prefer Prison Over Banishment

New York (AP)—Seven Communist leaders today were sentenced to three years in prison—a fate they preferred over banishment to Russia.

They also were fined $6,000 each. Five other convicted party leaders were sentenced to two years in prison, and fined $4,000 each. The other defendant got one year in prison and a fine of $2,000.

The 13 were convicted of conspiring to advocate violent revolution against the government. Maximum sentence is five years in prison and $10,000 fine.

'Unleashing' Chiang's Nationalists Poses Threat to Red China

MAO'S FAR EAST FIGHTING MACHINE—Communist China's army of over five million men is probably the largest standing army in the world today. Above Newsmag shows approximate location and strength of Mao Tse-tung's "peoples liberation army." In addition to great manpower, the Reds have built five new air bases in Kwangsi province, next to Indo-China—an added threat to the French fighting the Viet Minh rebels. Some military experts feel that an efficient blockade of the China coast would prevent the Red army from getting vital supplies.

chapter Four

FOLLOWING her through the doorway, he wondered at her gravity. She had never been overly generous with her smiles, but he had expected one tonight. A man should rate that, much welcome after being gone two years.

Eve turned and closed the door behind him and said, "You couldn't have brought worse news."

"What's so bad about it?" he asked, wholly puzzled.

Eve shrugged and said, "I'll explain it while you eat."

Then, as he took off his hat, she demanded, "Is that blood on your forehead?"

Rimbaud nodded and grinned at her, his eyes frankly appraising. She was, he decided, even lovelier than she had been two years ago. Her hair, richly russet and drawn back to a braided bun at the nape of her neck, framed an oval face with high cheek bones. Her eyes, he saw now, were some warm shade between blue and gray, like campfire smoke. There was an expression like a smile in them now. Not a smile, exactly, for it didn't alter the composed firmness of her lips; more like a lingering reflection of something that had made her smile a long time ago. Something in the way she peered at him, as if a man's face were a printed page to be read and understood, prompted Rimbaud to borrow, showing more graciousness at this moment than he had expressed in all the months he'd been away.

"Sweet Stuff," he said, using the nickname he'd given her in retaliation for being called "Fiddlefoot."

Eve smiled at that; a slow, reluctant smile that curved her lips. But she said censoriously, "You look awful, Jim. Purely awful. Worse than when I was here

BULLETINS

Harrisburg (AP)—The Commonwealth would construct three multi-million dollar horse race tracks and take 10 per cent of the betting pool under almost-identical new House and Senate bills.

Harrisburg (AP)—The House today had its second Fair-Loyalty Practices Commission bill and looked forward to the introduction of a third next Monday.

Learned it real good. You'd be surprised how he's changed. Sweet Stuff. It's downright astonishing.

Eve was standing close to him, the scent of her hair making a perfume that roused a thrusting hunger in him. A hunger that had nothing to do with food. Prompted by an urge he couldn't resist, Rimbaud reached out and took her in his arms and said lustily, "Sweet Stuff."

"No, Jim!" she exclaimed. "One kiss to welcome me back."

Rimbaud urged. "Eve struggled to get free. She used her strength against him and commanded, 'Let me go!'"

Instead Rimbaud kissed her. As if there were some potent magic in the merging, she ceased struggling at once. For a moment she was inert, neither rejecting his lips nor responding; her mouth loosely pliant and moist and sweet-flavored. Then she kissed him with a passionate pressing eagerness that astonished Jim Rimbaud and hugely pleased him.

It was like a wave, that kiss; a high-cresting wave that flowed over him and through him, possessing him completely. A wave that broke abruptly as she pulled her mouth away exclaiming, "Don't, Jim—please don't!"

And at this moment, as he reluctantly released her, there was a knock at the front door.

Rimbaud watched Eve go into the dining room, her slim fingers hastily tucking up a lock of tumbled hair. He marveled at the monstrous difference one kiss could make. Five minutes ago Eve Odegarde had been a girl he had known briefly and admired. Now she was the woman he wanted to marry; the only woman he had ever wanted for a wife. By God, she had everything. Everything a man could want in a woman.

WILLS CLEANERS AND BUSINESS SCHOOL OPEN SECOND HALF WITH VICTORIES

NEW RECORDS FOR SCORING ESTABLISHED

The YMCA-City Basketball loop got into the full swing of the second-half last night as Warren Business School cashed in on two new league records in a 92-35 shellacking of Youngville Wiggers during the nightcap, and first-half champion Wills Cleaners trounced Certified, 69-46.

These results throw last night's two winners into a three-way tie for first place with the Rockets, all with one victory.

The Schoolboys' 92 points is a new high team score for the campaign, five points better than the Rockets' 87 scored against the Style Shop, and Bob Wolfe's 32 points to the cause is a new individual mark. The latter eliminates Fran Masterson's record of 28 points in one game.

In handling the falling Youngville quintet its sixth consecutive defeat, the Schoolboys never let up pounding the rim. By half time the margin was 38-14 and by the close of three periods it read 56 to 22. Then the winners poured on 36 points in the final eight minutes for a final 57-points difference.

With Wolfe tallying better than one-third of the 92, Bill Weidert helped out with 14 points, Dick Knight and Don Gustafson each hit for 13, and Bud Berdine contributed 11. Bill Pollard collected nearly half of the out of towners' points by dumping in 16.

Six-foot-seven Bob Simpson had one of his better nights in the scoring column and led the Wills' victory with 21 points. After taking the leading pace in the first stanza, 17-10, the Cleaners went on to outscore Certified in two of the remaining chapters. The biggest spread of points was in the second period, when the losers were outdistanced 20 to 4.

Following Simpson in the point-making were Carmen Colosimo, who tallied 14 counters, and Tom Juliano and Ricky Sealie with 10 apiece. High scorers Bill Massa and Bob Reese were held to a mere four points each.

Larry Anderson again topped Certified, racking up 16, while Chuck Irvin, a newcomer, dropped 12 through the hoop.

About All Man Can Do Against Bob Cousy Is Pray, Admits Rochester Royals' Star

Marienville Has Winter Picnic In Defeating Grovers

On the rebound from last Friday's 49-48 heartbreaker at the hands of West Forest, East Forest High floormen came storming back last night to trounce a favored Sugar Grove quintet, 63-46, on the Sheffield High court.

It was the second Allegheny Valley League win for Coach Dick Finley's up and coming cagers, but still leaves them in fourth place with five defeats. Sugar Grove now has three wins against four losses. Towering Bob Gettis, one of the league's top scorers, and Sophomore Bud Seiffert had a circus with the hoop last night and combined for 47 of the Finley-men's points. Frank was high man for 21 points. Frank was high man for 21 points. Sugar Grove with 17 points.

East Forest nosed ahead, 14-11, in the opening canto and continued to construct a margin until Sugar Grove was suffering an 18-point deficit, 49-31, at the end of three frames. Coach Fred Bauer's players led the last period, 15-14.

This Thursday night East Forest will meet Johnsonburg, a strong Allegheny Mountain league contender, and on Friday Sugar Grove will play Tidouate at home in the UAV circuit.

Cornplanter's Loss Gives Sylvania Lead In Revolver League

Sylvania took the lead in the Warren Revolver League last night, when it defeated Cornplanter, 1068 to 936, for its second straight win. In the other matches the Game Wardens won their first by outshooting Youngville, 1230 to 859, and Irvine handed NARC its first setback, 1069 to 1046.

Thirty-seven shooters turned out for the league's second match at the State Armory and R. Brennan of Irvine, led the field with a 264 total.

D. Worley was high man for the Game Wardens with 281, J. Thompson, topped Youngville with 255, NARC was paced by R. Sidon's 239, a 226 by G. Ruhman headed Sylvania, and J. Schuler fired a 264 to lead Cornplanter.

Warren High Faces Titusville In District 2 Game Tonight

Allentown Will Be Sixth Team in the Interstate League

York, Pa. (P)—When certain verbal agreements are translated into writing later this week the Class B Interstate Baseball League will be ready to play ball in 1953 as a six team circuit.

That was the announced decision yesterday following the league's fourth organizational meeting in as many months.

Gerald P. Nugent, president, named Allentown, Pa., as the latest entry, filling out a six club lineup. Nugent said Eddie Kirschner of Hazleton, who bought last year's Wilmington, Del., franchise in November, had made a verbal agreement with the St. Louis Cardinals to rent the Card's Breadon Field at Allentown.

The Phillies Philadelphia, National League, former Wilmington franchise owners and Cards will assist Kirschner with players but no working agreement has been made as yet," Nugent said.

Interests at Johnstown, Pa., declined an invitation last Friday to become the sixth club in the Class B circuit. Shortage of players was given as the main reason. Johnstown last fielded a team in the Middle Atlantic League, which folded in 1950.

Announce Basketball Teams in Sugar Bowl

New Orleans (P)—The Sugar Bowl announced today that Fordham, DePaul, Holy Cross and Louisiana State University will compete in its 1953 basketball tournament.

Albert Wachenheim, chairman of the Bowl's basketball committee, said all four schools have accepted invitations.

A survey of next season's player potential indicates the four selected will provide one of the finest tournaments in Sugar Bowl history," he said.

Fordham and DePaul are newcomers to the Sugar Bowl. Holy Cross appeared in the 1948 tournament with the great Bob Cousy as star, and LSU won last year's championship.

Bobby Shantz Signs His $50,000 Contract

New York (P)—Bobby Shantz, most valuable player in the American League last season, topped a list of 15 players who signed 1953 major league contracts yesterday.

The tiny Philadelphia southpaw agreed to a two-year deal with the Athletics which will pay him more than $50,000. His salary will be the most ever paid to a pitcher by the A's.

The Athletics also signed outfielder-third baseman Allie Clark and released Sad Sam Zoldak, veteran relief hurler.

The Chicago White Sox came to terms with pitcher Saul Rogovin.

NBA AT A GLANCE

Yesterday's Results

Syracuse 98, Baltimore 77.
Rochester 80, Milwaukee 76 (overtime).

The Dragons of Warren High enter their final half of Section Two League action, as well as the closing month of the 1952-53 campaign, tonight when they take off for a loop encounter in Titusville. Game time is 8:15 on the Colestock High hardwood.

In other Section Two contests, Oil City travels to Corry and Meadville goes to Franklin.

Coach Joe Massa's passers let the Rockets come back to a 60-60 tie in the first tilt on Beatty court, but racked up eight points for a 68-60 overtime verdict. It was the first of two conference wins for the Dragons in five starts, the other happening at Corry. Titusville saw victory for the first time against Corry last Friday night, 57-48.

Coach Hud Wells' Oilers are an easy pick over winless Corry tonight to retain their league lead with six straight wins, but Meadville should remain close on their heels as favorite over Franklin for the second time.

A Warren victory and Franklin loss would place the two in a tie for third place again, each with a split 3-3 record, but should the Buz Shannermen trip the locals, it would mean sharing fourth place with the Rockets.

It is most likely that the usual Dragon lineup will appear tonight, and that Coach Shanner will pull a similar shift against Warren as he did Corry. The Warren list, Gary Ettinger and Bob Harrington at forwards, Bob Wilson in the pivot, and Ron Isackson and Dick Hartnett at guards. For Titusville, Jim Cole, George Johnson, both sophomores, Gus Duliakas, Joe Bodamer and George Gedeon. In the reserve line Coach Massa has Jerry Gordon, whose set shooting kept the Dragons going against Franklin, Bruce Duell, the hero of the last Titusville game, Jerry Leonard and Dick Lundahl.

Sports Boosters Need Help At Marconi Club Tonight

Co-chairman Bill Massa and Myer Kornreich of the Sports Boosters' lettermen's banquet setup committee, urge that members of the general committee and of the association turn out at the Marconi Outing Club between 7:30 and 8:00 o'clock this evening to help arrange tables and decorations for the Wednesday evening crowd.

The banquet will start at 8:30 tomorrow evening, when over 200 persons are expected to fill the Outing Club for this annual event and hear Rosy Rowswell, well-known Pittsburgh sportscaster.

Working under Chairman Haggis Schmidt, the committee has put the ticket sales over the top and a very entertaining program has been arranged.

Through The Wind Tunnel

"Ask for it and you'll get it," says the North Warren Civic club members today as they think over how they listened intently to facts and figures as given by their last night's banquet speaker, only to suddenly discover that the whole thing was a "mess of slush," to speak right out about it. All of which goes to show that perhaps this is going on all the time—terrible thought, isn't it?

South Side expert, A. F. Dunham (no ad.).

Henceforth, everything said by any after dinner speaker in this section is going to be taken with a few grains of salt from the nearest shaker.

Future speakers are going to work under a disadvantage until this thing blows over.

WILL GRADUATE TUESDAY

Stewart Scheetz, co-captain of Penn State's 1952 football team, will be graduated from the School of Physical Education and Athletics with honors Tuesday, January 27. He'll qualify for a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

GOING SOUTH

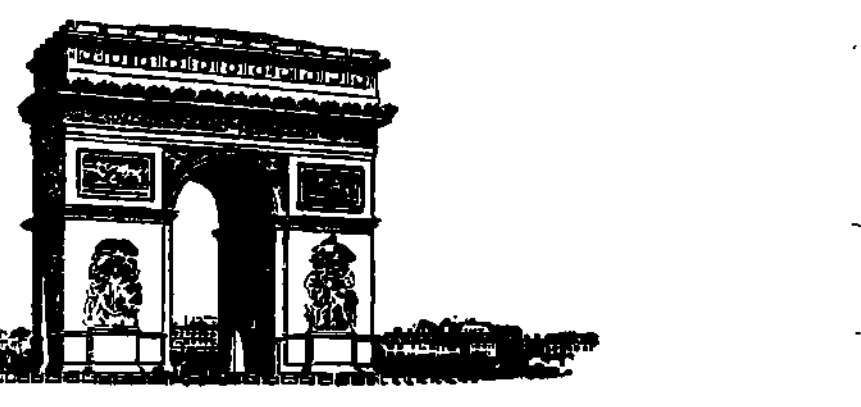

Bill Jeffrey, veteran Penn State soccer coach, is enroute to Puerto Rico where he accepted a coaching position at the university for a five-month period beginning February 1. He was granted a leave to accept the special assignment.

GRIDIRON OPINION

Rip Engle, Penn State coach, does not subscribe to the theory that the T-formation will deteriorate under non-plateau football. Moreover, he looks for high-scoring games regardless of renewed emphasis on defense.

TO RECEIVE COMMISSION

Lou Kozarek, of Portage, who won Eastern intercollegiate 155-pound boxing honors in 1951, will receive a lieutenant's commission in the U. S. Air Force Reserves when he graduates from the Pennsylvania State College Tuesday, January 27.

Expects Farm Reform By Rotary Cultivator

MICHAEL STONE with one of his cultivating machines.

AP Newsfeatures

Arlington Heights, Ill.—A 27-year-old farm implement salesman hopes to reform America's farming methods. Michael P. W. Stone is president of the Howard Rotovator Co., Inc., importing English-made rotary cultivators. The cultivator aids soil conservation, he says.

Called the rotovator, the machine churns the soil with rotating blades. There are six models, 10 inches wide up to nine feet. When Stone became president of the company three years ago, its annual sales in the U. S. were a scant $100,000. In 1952 they were one million and one-half dollars. He expects sales for 1953 to top two million dollars.

Stone, a former fighter pilot with the British Navy, flies his own plane to company offices in Baltimore, Md., and San Francisco, Calif. He recently established national headquarters in Arlington Heights, Ill., near Chicago.

Stone's territory is the U. S., Alaska, Hawaii. His tiny company is composed of 25 people.

The rotovator accomplishes the three operations of plowing, discing and harrowing in a single stroke, Stone says.

The fascinating story of the economic growth of the United States in recent years is well known to many investors. So many parts of the economy—oils, metals, manufacturing, distribution and finance—seem to offer attractive prospects that the industry and the corporate selection is difficult. For an increasing number of U. S. investors, the selection and supervision problem is solved by the Investment Trusts.

In a "growth" economy security prices—especially common stock prices—are subject to considerable fluctuation . . . therefore, investors find it difficult to decide WHEN to make investments. This problem of "timing" is now minimized by investing in any one of the leading investment trust funds.

Purchase of these mutual funds at regular monthly intervals has been a popular method of investment for wealthy investors as well as those with limited capital but good earning power. The ability to build—on a voluntary, efficient, convenient basis—an investment estate in growing United States is an important contribution to this trend.

Nation Takes Worse Beating Than Stockholders as Result Of Last Summer's Steel Strike

By SAM DAWSON
New York (AP)—Uncle Sam appears today to be taking a worse beating than the stockholders as a result of last summer's steel strike.

Earnings reports for 1952, now pouring in, show that steel company profits fell around 22 per cent below the 1951 figures.

But tax payments for 1952 will be down about 69 per cent.

The returns to date indicate that a U. S. Treasury may get around a billion dollars less from steel companies than it collected in income and excess profits taxes from them in 1951.

There is also a hefty tax refund indicated. Under the Excess Profits Act, the companies because of the earnings drop in 1952 can get refunds on part of the excess profits tax paid on 1951 earnings. Reports to date show that these refunds will run well up in the millions.

Stockholders see the earnings of the companies they own dropping in 1952, but so far there has been no cut in dividend rates by the major companies.

Much of the drop in earnings is blamed on the strike, which knocked some two months of operations off the year. But some other factors enter in.

For one thing, iron and steel companies spent more than one billion dollars last year to expand and improve their plants, the American Iron and Steel Institute reports.

A sizable part of this expansion will go into production this year. Last year it was an expense—although ameliorated in many instances by fast amortization permitted for defense construction.

For another thing, while the three months of 1952 showed most of the companies setting new records for output and for dollar volume of sales helped by the price hike that followed the strike, only a few of the companies also show better earnings than in the final three months of 1951.

Steel officials this week have been stressing that their costs including the wage hike that ended the strike, went up even more than their sales volume. Thus, most of them show even fourth quarter profits running behind the previous year.

None said, however, that he was actively campaigning for another price boost.

Twelve companies—including seven of the largest—have reported earnings so far. Combined these total $369,530,562. This was a drop of $107,522,968, or 22.3 per cent, from their 1951 profit total of $477,053,530.

Eight of the companies also published their federal tax settlements. Together they expect to pay into the U. S. Treasury $289,070,000. But in 1951 these same eight companies gave Uncle Sam $880,388,000 in corporate income and excess profit taxes.

This drop of $591,318,000 or 68.7 per cent, includes about 37 million dollars in credits for refunds on excess profits taxes paid in 1951.

Steel company accountants figure that when the entire industry is heard from, this drop in federal tax payments will reach, and probably top, one billion dollars.

Prospects for 1953 appear brighter, however. Steel executives stress that their backlog of orders indicate full operations for months to come. New facilities will be in use.

High operating costs may hold down profits, but no such drastic drop in earnings as in 1952 is anticipated—unless there's more labor trouble.

East Street Cub Pack Has Program With Indian Theme

By JACK REPORTER
Cub Pack 48, East Street school, had a well attended meeting January 30. The program carried an Indian "Tribe of Webelos" theme in its setting consisting of a room plunged in darkness, with a campfire before the teepees of "Akela" and "Spirit of Cubbing" candlelight.

Den 6 opened the meeting with a flag ceremony. While cubs were costuming themselves as Indians, Cubmaster Don Taft, explained to the parents the part they may take with their sons in participating in activities during Boy Scout week beginning February 8, and outlined the February Blue and Gold theme with its Blue and Gold dinner as an objective of family participation in the fun and entertainment.

A letter from the Children's Aid Society was read in appreciation of the nice lot of toys contributed by the Cub Pack 48 to that welfare organization's Christmas gift distribution program. Accompanied by the beat of tom-toms, 22 Indians arrived on the scene and the "Tribe of Webelos" was called to council.

Den 6 presented an Indian "Dance to the Death" skit. Seated about the campfire the Cub witnessed the presentation of the Pack's Charter by Neighborhood Commissioner Sherrill Glass to Mrs. William Fuelhart, president of East Street School PTA—the Pack's sponsoring institution, who in turn presented it to the Institutional Representative and Pack Committee Chairman Dr. William L. Ball.

Committee members William Mathers and Clifford Knowlton, and Den mothers Mrs. Don Taft, Mrs. Cleon Douglas, Mrs. R. A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Margaret Johnson and Mrs. Phoebe Jan Hughes were present to receive their qualification certificates.

In a Bobcat induction ceremony "Akela" opened the door of the

Penelec to Aid In Installing Analyzer At Phila. Institute

Pennsylvania Electric Company and six other major power companies in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware have agreed to share in the cost of installing a $400,000 network analyzer at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia.

The alternating current analyzer will be the largest of its kind and will be built by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation. It will be housed in a special building on the roof of the Institute, occupying a total floor space of 2,500 square feet with two conference rooms and a staff office in addition to the computing equipment.

A network analyzer is a miniature power system, with circuits representing generators, transmission lines, transformers and all other devices necessary to actual generation, transmission and distribution of electricity. It is used by engineers as an aid in solving the many complex problems involved in maintaining and expanding power systems, and serves to eliminate a great deal of paper computation.

Demands for electricity for residential, commercial and industrial uses in areas served by Penelec are increasing rapidly, requiring careful planning for economical and efficient generation. By simulating the conditions under which a given system operates, engineers can determine quickly how additional load at various points will affect over-all operation and facilities needed. Since it takes from three to five years to plan and build a new generating station or transmission lines, continuous studies are needed.

Penelec engineers previously have used similar facilities in Atlanta, Pittsburgh and Chicago, but were forced to wait many months at times to use these analyzers.

Companies participating will contribute to its cost in direct proportion to their anticipated annual work load. The analyzer is scheduled to be placed in operation in mid-1954. The project is under the direction of Dr. Henry B. Allen, executive vice president of Franklin Institute.

Cost-Conscious Businessmen Beginning to Eye Mountains Of Records Required of Them

New York (AP)—Cost-conscious businessmen are beginning to eye those mountains of records that threaten to push them out of the office. A lot of those files could be filled with waste paper, they suspect.

And they shudder at the increasing expense of paperwork that threatens to push them out of the office. So they listen to the talk about the coming mechanical brains.

To that has been added of late the fear that bombing raids could wipe out essential records of their dealings and contracts. So they are hiring or building expensive hide-ways of their files.

Some of the load could be shucked—according to a study released by the National Records Management Council—if business men would throw out the great mass of obsolete records threatening to engulf them.

The council is a non-profit organization which has worked with such organizations as the Rockefeller Foundation, the Hoover Commission, the American Historical and Economic History Association and New York University in helping corporations and government agencies separate the essential from the valueless records they hoard.

Corporate records now occupy office space valued at 150 million dollars a year and outside office storage space costing between 150 and 250 million dollars a year, the survey estimates.

The council adds that 95 per cent of all corporate paper work that clerks file away is never referred to—not because Tillie can't find it, but because the boss never has any reason to look at it again.

Business firms, even more than individuals seem to have that widespread trait of "saving" pieces of paper that just might some day come in handy.

The council's president, Emmet J. Leahy, estimates that one trillion pieces of paper are stuffed in the nation's business files. He thinks 400 billion pieces could be burned or sold as wastepaper.

Leahy, who directed the Hoover Commission's task force on records management, says his group found the government's hoard of paper filed 18 1/2 million cubic feet of files.

Since then federal agencies have been destroying 2 1/2 million cubic feet of records annually, have reclaimed for active use 57 thousand file cabinets, 78 thousand transfer cases and around 1 1/2 million square feet of office and storage space. Leahy says the savings is nearly 5 1/2 million dollars a year.

He thinks business firms are a lot worse off in this regard than the government.

If business firms don't act, Leahy warns, their essential records may be snowed under an avalanche of useless paper.

Oil and Gas Journal Is Biggest Magazine

Tulsa, Okla.—The world's biggest magazine of any kind is The Oil and Gas Journal, weekly publication serving the petroleum industry, according to the annual compilation of advertising just released by Advertising Age.

This is the fourth successive year that The Oil and Gas Journal has led all other publications in the number of pages of advertising, far ahead of mass-circulation popular magazines, farm papers, women's magazines, or other types of publications. This reflects the tremendous investment being made by the petroleum industry in new equipment to expand its facilities.

In 1952 The Oil and Gas Journal carried 7,626 pages of advertising, according to the Advertising Age tabulation. Runnerup was Iron Age, a weekly magazine of the metals industry, with 7,335 pages. By comparison, Business Week carried 5,502 pages of advertising in 1952, Saturday Evening Post had 4,194 pages, New Yorker had 3,894 pages, Life had 3,815 pages, and Time had 3,562 pages.

Experts Again Put Seton Hall at Top Of Basketball List

New York (AP)—Seton Hall's perfect record convinced the nation's basketball experts again this week that the South Orange, N. J., Pirates are the best college team in the country.

It was the third straight week in the top spot of the Associated Press poll for Coach Honey Russell's club, equalling Kansas State's first-place run earlier in the season. La Salle led in the first two polls.

The sportswriters and broadcasters kept a pat hand right through the first six places after a week in which form prevailed. Indiana, though idle, finished second, followed by Washington, La Salle, Kansas State and Illinois.

Four-time loser De Paul jumped from 10th to seventh after an impressive Saturday night decision over Notre Dame. Western Kentucky moved up from ninth to eighth, swapping places with Oklahoma A. & M.
